FIVE OFFICIALS UNDER INDICTMENT.

Large Stockholder and Former Director Included.

United Shoe Machinery Company in Restraint of Trade.

BOSTON, Sept. 19.—Two indictments were returned today by the federal grand jury against five officials and a large stockholder of the United Shoe Machinery Company, charging conspiracy and restraint of trade under the Sherman act. The officials indicted are Sidney W. Winslow of Orleans, Mass., president; Edward P. Hurt of Newton, Mass., vice president, assistant treasurer, director and member of the executive committee; George W. Brown, Newton, vice president, member of the executive committee and director; William Barbour of New York, vice president, member of the executive committee and director; Elmer P. Howe of Boston, counsel, member of the executive committee and director, and James J. Storrow, the largest stockholder and formerly a member of the executive committee and director. Mr. Storrow resigned from the board December 9, 1909, a month previous to the municipal election in which he was a candidate for mayor.

The penalty for the alleged crime is a fine of $5,000 or imprisonment for one year or both. The six defendants did not appear today, but will be summoned and will probably plead in the next ten days. The grand jury returned two indictments, the second one in three counts.

According to William S. Gregg of the Department of Justice at Washington, who had been in charge of the case and was present today, the indictments charge that the six defendants have been working through the instrumentality of the United Shoe Machinery Company in a way to make them criminally liable under the Sherman act. The second indictment alleges that the carrying on of the business under the merger of the three old shoe machinery manufacturing companies which took place in February, 1899, was engaging in a combination in restraint of trade, that it was a conspiracy in restraint of shoe manufacturers and that the whole transaction was a monopolization of interstate trade.

Mr. Gregg supplemented a synopsis of the indictments, which are embraced in more than 100 typewritten pages, with a statement that the prosecution by the government had nothing to do with the action of the Massachusetts legislature last spring. He said that special agents had been working on the case since March 1 and that 12 witnesses had been examined, representing all sections of the country but principally New England.

The court proceedings today occupied less than five minutes. The grand jury handed in the formal documents in the case and was then excused. For an hour previous to the coming in of the court the grand jury held an extra sitting to hear two more witnesses, and then filed into the circuit court room before Judge Dodge.

NEGOTIATIONS ENTER NEW STA

Officials' Conversation Makes Satisfactory Issue Probable.

PARIS, Sept. 19.—A semi-official note issued this afternoon says the French negotiations with Germany entered a new stage during the conversation between the German foreign minister, Herr Von Kiderlin Waechter, and M. Cambon, the French ambassador.

The note says that Herr Von Kiderlen Waechter did not give M. Cambon a written reply, but talked over with him certain modifications in a spirit of conciliation. No document was handed over because time would have been lost in transmitting it to Paris and in re-transmitting the reply to Berlin. The conversation the note adds, made a satisfactory issue probable, but it would be premature to consider all divergencies as having disappeared. Another interview will take place Thursday, and it is hoped that by the end of the week the negotiations will have reached a decisive turn.

GENERAL FIRMIN DEAD.

Revolutionary Leader Deserted Post to Overthrow President of Hayti.

ST. THOMAS, Danish West Indies, Sept. 19.—General Antenor Firmin, who deserted his post as Haytien minister at London to help overthrow President Simon of Hayti, died here today.

Firmin led one of the two revolutionary parties and was a candidate for the presidency in succession to Simon. However, General Leconte, the other revolutionary chief, was the first to reach Port au Prince after the success of the revolution had been assured, and he assumed the presidency before Firmin could muster sufficient strength to give him a fighting chance at the capital.

For a time a conflict between the followers of Leconte and the adherents of Firmin was feared, but August 4, two days after Simon had left Port au Prince, Firmin, who had remained on board a vessel in the harbor of Port au Prince, sailed for this city, where he had since remained.

AT SAULT STE MARIE.

Crowds from Canada and Northern Michigan Welcome Taft.

SAULT STE MARIE, Mich, Sept. 19.—Early today big crowds from Canada and Northern Michigan began to gather here to welcome President Taft. The weather promised to be all that could be desired and the city was in gala attire. The day's program included a brief tour of the city by the President upon his arrival and a review of 2,500 school children in the government park, after which the President was scheduled to make a brief visit at the home of Governor Osborn.

Elaborate plans were made for the luncheon at the armory, tendered the chief executive shortly after noon by 500 residents of the city. The principal address of the day was scheduled for delivery in the beautiful park surrounding the park school. Following the address the entertainment committee arranged for a review of the troops at Fort Brady and an inspection of the locks.

KOKOVSOFF NOW ACTING PREMIER.

Court Influences Gather to Control Government.

Nationalists Fear Loss of Power if Present Official is Retained.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 19.—The court influences are mobilizing for the fight to control the government which shall succeed that of the late Premier Stolypin, who died during the night. The impression prevails that the tenure of office of M. Kokovsoff, the acting premier, and accordingly there are Nationalists fear that they would be set aside if Kokovsoff remained at the head of the ministry. Several ministers are also out of harmony with the acting premier, and according there are numberless candidates for cabinet posts which are likely to be vacated.

M. Kokovsoff is generally respected as safe on foreign and financial matters and is a straightforward Conservative in home politics. The phrase "It is time to wind up the Nationalistic agitation and inaugurate conciliation" is attributed to him. There is much speculation as to whether a more liberal or a more reactionary policy will be adopted.

The Novoe Vremya today says: "A new chapter in the history of Russia commences with the death of Stolypin. Socialism and Judaism must be taken in an iron grasp."

The Rech considers that Stolypin was a big individuality but a political bankrupt and that he has left the country an enormous task as a political legacy.

MARTIAL LAW IN ORDER IN SPAIN.

Result of Violence Connected With Labor Strikes.

Disturbers at Valencia Attack Officials in Township of Cullera.

MADRID, Sept. 19.—Martial law has been declared in Spain. This followed reports of violence in connection with the workingmen's strikes which have been called in various cities to further, the government says, a revolutionary plot.

The most serious situation is at Valencia, where a general strike was declared yesterday. The city was at once placed under martial law and though there was more or less rioting throughout the day the authorities had matters pretty well in hand until after dark, when the disturbers vented their fury in an attack upon the officials in the adjacent township of Cullera. The rioters murdered a judge and wounded other officers of the court which had been engaged in the trial of those who had been arrested earlier in the day. The mob was finally dispersed by guards from the custom house.

Strikes have also been declared at Bilbao, Saragossa, Cadiz, Huelva, Seville, Gijon and other cities. In some of these places the movement has been but partially successful.

Premier Canalejas announces that the government has in its possession the details of a revolutionary plot uncovered at Valencia and Barcelona. Part of this plot was to assassinate General Weyler captain general of Catalonia. The government claims to know the names of all the conspirators and the sources of their supplies. It is claimed that the movement at Barcelona has failed of importance.

The last previous time when martial law was declared in Spain was in the summer of 1909, when the efforts of the government to put down the revolutionary outbreak culminated in the execution of Professor Ferrer, a distinguished educationalist of anti-monarchical principles. The trouble, which began at Barcelona, was caused by popular opposition to the Spanish campaign against the Riffs in Morocco.

The General Union of Labor today decided to call a general strike throughout Spain on a date to be fixed later.

OLD DEMANDS INSISTED UPON.

Strike Breakers at Work at the Namquit Mills in Bristol.

BRISTOL, Sept. 19.—Strike breakers were put to work in the weave room of the Namquit Worsted Mills today to take the places of the weavers who struck last Wednesday, because they objected to operating fancy work looms. The strike breakers numbered 20 and came here from New York escorted by 25 detectives. The 43 strikers held a meeting today and decided to insist on their demands, but to refrain from making any disturbance.

SECRETARY MEYER RETURNS.

Inspected Navy Yards and Private Shipbuilding Plants in Europe.

Will Try British Methods of Dealing With Desertion and of Simplifying Correspondence.

Secretary of the Navy Meyer, who has been visiting navy yards and shipbuilding plants abroad, arrived in New York, Sunday on Cunard liner Lusitania from Liverpool. He met and talked with several members of the British cabinet and with prominent officers of the British army and navy. Mr. Meyer said this opportunity came to him through a dinner in his honor which Whitelaw Reid, the American ambassador to Great Britain, gave on the day of his arrival in London.

He was greatly impressed with what he had seen and profoundly impressed not only with the uniform courtesy extended to him, Mr. Meyer said, but with the intelligence of the men he met and the willingness on all sides to furnish information. He expressed his thanks on arrival to the British Admiralty for its cordiality and for the facilities accorded him for the inspection of the navy yards and private shipbuilding plants.

"I had several conferences with the Admiralty in London," said Mr. Meyer, "concerning the navy yards and the relation of the Admiralty with the fleets. I was attracted by the success secured in the Admiralty and in the British navy generally in abbreviating and simplifying correspondence, and am determined to carry out my previous efforts in this direction in our service.

"I found I had much to learn from the more humane way desertion and leave-breaking are handled and punished in England. I visited the detention barracks at Chatham and Portsmouth under the navy, and the detention barracks at Aldershot under the army. It is at these barracks and other similar ones that men are punished for offenses against discipline by continued occupation at drill and useful work during the whole of each day. The punishment periods are short, but a man so punished never wants to go back to it, he is kept so busy. No prison garb is worn and though the men are confined in separate rooms, there is an absence of the brutalizing influence of a prison."

Mr. Meyer said he had planned to establish the detention system as far as possible on these lines. A small start had already been made in this direction by the American navy, but much remained to be done, and some legislation along more humane lines would be necessary, with which, he believed, Congress would be in sympathy.

"There are building in England and other countries," he continued, "large and fast armored cruisers of 27,000 tons and 28 knots speed, with which we have as yet nothing to compare. I have seen in our papers some talk of a reaction toward smaller battleships in the British navy, but found no signs of such a tendency in England, nor any belief that reduction in size would occur in any navy.

"My observations strengthen my conviction that we can do all necessary work for the navy in a less number of navy yards, with greater economy and efficiency.

"In studying the organization of the English and other leading fleets it was noticeable that they all had the proper number of admirals of suitable rank, while in our country we have nothing but rear admirals. We should at least have vice-admirals, if only to give the country proper recognition when our fleets meet foreign fleets at home or abroad."

Mr. Meyer spoke of the younger officers of high rank i nthe British navy, and said he hoped that Congress would soon pass a personnel bill which would give the service younger admirals and captains.

PORTSMOUTH.

[Regular correspondence of the News]

Those still remaining at Cedar avenue, Island Park, were startled late Saturday evening by the crackling of fire and found that a cottage owned by Mr. Charles Remillard of Fall River was blazing. Though it had not been occupied for three weeks and a fire had not been lighted, the blaze started back of the stove. The people occupying the next cottage, which is owned by Mr. Richard Duckworth, ran for help and Mr. Ray Duckworth broke open the door. The fire had not been burning long enough to make much headway and by Mr. Duckworth's assistance the cottage was saved. It is thought that the fire was incendiary.

The Apollo Concert Club of Fall River, which will furnish the opening evening's entertainment at the Newport County Fair is made up of William A. James, director, first cornet, second tenor and bell ringer; Clifford M. Burgess, second cornet, first bass, bell ringer and humorist; Richard M. Hawkins, baritone, horn, second bass, bell ringer and traps, and Stephen Preston, accompanist. This club is the one which played at Eureka hall last spring and received much commendation. A novel feature of the fair will be the sending up of a balloon each evening by the Rhode Island Coal Company, bearing a ticket for a ton of coal.

News of the death Sunday of Mrs. Clarissa Slade of Pottersville, who had been sick of bronchial pneumonia for a few days only, has reached her friends here. She was 75 years of age.

SCENES IN "THE ORIENT IN PROVIDENCE."

Such rapid progress has been made in the work of setting up and arranging the scenery for "The Orient in Providence" exposition that there is no question but everything will be in readiness by the opening hour.

A tall pagoda, reaching to the ceiling, looms in the centre of the Chinese section, which is entered first, and against the walls are the preaching hall, hospital and dispensary. Separating the Chinese from the Japanese section is a representation of a Chinese gate and wall. The central feature of the Japanese section is to be a Buddhist temple with the usual "torii," or gate, which always signs the approach to a temple. The Korean section, which is to occupy the entire platform, will be much more complete than in "The World in Boston." Here the prominent figure is to be a "kahn," or house, to which a room may be added at will, on the same principle as the "unit system" of modern architecture, though necessarily much more crude.

Every section, not only in the main hall, but throughout the entire exposition, is to be set in a painted background suggesting the country it represents. Perhaps the most striking of these scenic backgrounds is that belonging to the "frontier" scene, located in the annex across the corridor from the main hall. This represents, at the right, a portion of the bleak Labrador landscape, with Dr. Grenfell's vessel in the foreground, and beyond it, at the left, the gray ocean dotted with icebergs.

BATTLESHIP GEORGIA COMING HERE.

Battleship Georgia, which has been anchored in Hampton Roads since the completion of her target practice last Saturday on the Southern drill grounds, left for Newport at high tide Monday evening. The North Dakota, the last vessel of the fleet, left Hampton Roads for New York this morning. The South Carolina and the Louisiana went to the Norfolk navy yard Monday, where the other vessels of the Second division—the Vermont, Kansas and New Hampshire—with the Delaware of the First division, are taking their turns at dry docking.

The fleet will re-assemble in Hampton Roads October 5, preparatory to beginning the Southern cruise October 15. The itinerary of this cruise has not yet been officially announced by the Navy Department.

IN INTEREST OF DEPOSITORS.

The Tradesmen's Trust Company, Philadelphia, Closes Its Doors.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 18.—The Tradesmen's Trust Company, with a capital of $300,000, and deposits when the last report was made of $1,325,000, closed its doors this morning. Peter Boyd, a well known attorney, is president, having succeeded the late Mayor Samuel H. Ashbridge in the office. The company issued the following statement:

"To the public:

"The board of directors of the Tradesmen's Trust Company has decided to close the doors of the institution in order to protect the depositors who, in the judgment of the board, will receive dollar for dollar. The institution is solvent. Its assets, properly administered, will pay its entire indebtedness and leave a surplus of its stockholders. The assets are largely in the shape of mortgages and advances on real estate and while well secured cannot be realized upon at once. Therefore as a precautionary measure in the interests primarily of the depositors, the above action of the board was decided upon."

Now in the matter of wall papers and you will save money at Ralph H. Barker's, 99 Spring. The stock of wall papers here just now comprising domestic as well as imported patterns makes the selection easy as well as satisfactory. The price is lower.

WHEN YOU SEE

One of the Plunkett & Manchester Co's coal teams passing along the street loaded with coal and frequently topped off with a little wood or kindlings you can always be assured that some one is bound to receive the best of fuel there is to be had. If you stop to think a moment you will realize too that coal is cheaper now than it will be later on. Phone 411.

THE MANUFACTURE OF AWNINGS

The making of awnings is a business all by itself and Wilmarth & Co. have solved the problem to their own satisfaction and every one who uses an awning turned out by Wilmarth is satisfied too. So taking the measurements and orders and sending out of town for same—all awnings are made and painted right in their own plant.

THE SEASON FOR HUNTING

Is coming nearer day by day and the hunter will need many things that can be found at this store. A new gun perhaps will be one of the things needed and the stock here this season from which to make a satisfactory selection was never larger. J. M. K. Southwick, 185 Thames street.

UTOPIAN CHOCOLATES

Being wholesalers for this popular make of candy and exclusive handlers for the same in this vicinity, "The Broadway Spa" will be found freshly stocked with "Utopian Chocolates" at all times. Put up in fancy boxes and selling at 60 cents a pound makes the "Utopian Brand" a favorite with the trade. S. David, cor. Farewell St. and Broadway.

THE FOOTBALL DAYS

Are here and games will soon be played. While in the store of A. C. Landers & Son the other day I was surprised at the stock of football togs and the other requisites used by athletes on the football field which this concern runs for this season. The selection would surprise anyone.

HIGH GRADE CANNED GOODS.

There are many kinds of canned goods on the market, but the "Nectar Brand" seems to be in very popular favor with those who have used the same in their homes. A full line of the "Nectar Brand" in both fruits and vegetables are carried in stock by A. R. Dillaney, 642 Thames. Phone 795.

MODERN MACHINERY

And an establishment that is well quipped to handle interior decorating and work of any description is immediately associated with Robert W. Curry, Builder and General Contractor, by those who know. On work of this character estimates will be cheerfully given at any time. Big stock of spruce and framing lumber now on hand. 31-41 Chapel St. Phone 893.

THE PRICE ALONE

Would probably lead you to give us your order if you get competitive estimates—but our absolute assurance of satisfaction with the work ought to count too. For with us that assurance is something real and tangible. Steam and hot water heating systems installed—and this cool wave is a reminder of what you will need later on. Lincoln Hammett. Phone 348.

PRETTY PATTERNS

In domestic and foreign materials for fall and winter garments are now displayed at Fred Lundholm's, The Fashionable Tailor, 3 Broadway. When measurements are taken at this shop for garments for ladies or clothes for men the next thing that is done is to have it ready to suit your convenience and to please as to fit and workmanship.

A FRAYED EDGE

On a pair of cuffs, a broken crease where the collar folds, both these things cause a man a great deal of worriment. It generally happens so that he never notices these defects until he is already to use the articles with no other clean ones in the house. Then his wife puts her hands over her ears. All such scenes are avoided by sending your laundry to the Bellevue Laundry. Phone 393.

Tailor Made WAISTS

For Fall.

The new Tailored Waists are here. Dozens of new styles, each one maintaining our usual high standard of quality.

The line of fine Linene Waists is again a feature this season. Beautiful models with straight pleats, plain fronts with pocket, side effects. Gibson pleats, and touches of fine embroidery Every one correctly cut, finely finished with large pearl buttons and laundered cuffs and collar. Made in a clean factory whose motto is not how quickly but how well. To see these models one wonders how such a garment can be sold at the price, yet the price is no higher than the slipshod kind. All sizes, 98c each.

Madras waists are again popular. This line embraces soft, silky fabrics woven in pretty patterns and neatly tucked. Finished off with laundered cuffs and collars they make a stylish durable waist for the woman of good taste. See the new styles in our line selling at $1.98 each.

Hand embroidered linen waists are always admired For those who have not the talent to do the work themselves we have many styles, each one a gem and at the prices of plain waists. Starting at $1.98, for the simpler designs the line runs to $2.98 and $3.50 for elaborate patterns in beautiful work. All of these are embroidered on pure linen and will be appreciated by those who desire fine waists.

Visit our waist department and see the line that is distinctive.

A VETERAN TEAM.

Most of the High School Football Players Likely to be Back Again —Schedule of Twelve Games.

This year's football team at the Rogers High School will in all probability be made up largely of veteran players. Manager Sayer has had the candidates at the Civic League lot for practice and about 20 were out, including 11 of the 1910 squad. Last year's men included Captain Hoar, Ward, Turner, Curtis, E. Jemail, Lawrence, Clarke, Frank, Cottrell, Bowler and O'Sullivan. Among the new men were Biesel, Mason, Shea, A. Sullivan, Arnold, Griffith and Dring. Ebbs Knox and M. Jemail of the 1910 team will report later.

Manager Sayer announces the following schedule of 12 games, seven to be played in Newport and five away:

WILL LEAVE THE NAVY.

Acceptance of Resignation of Lieutenant Roy C. Smith Avoids a Scandal.

The resignation from the navy of Lieutenant Roy C. Smith was Monday accepted by Acting Secretary of the Navy Admiral Reginald Nicholson, to take effect when Lieutenant Smith arrived at his home in Niles, Mich. The resignation is said to have been given at the request of Rear Admiral Murdock, commanding the Asiatic fleet, after a court of inquiry had investigated charges of unbecoming conduct made against him.

He was attached to gunboat Villalobos, and his brother officers persuaded him to resign rather than cause a naval scandal which might result in his trial by court-martial, it is said. He followed their advice and arrived at San Francisco, Saturday, where a naval officer met him and informed him that if he attempted to withdraw his resignation he would be sent back to the Asiatic station under arrest for trial by court-martial.

THE AIRSHIP MAIL SERVICE.

Captain Paul Beck of the United States Army to Carry First Special Delivery Sack.

Captain Paul Beck of the United States army is the aviator who will carry the first special delivery United States mail sack that has ever been transported through the air. He will make trips twice daily from Nassau Boulevard, Long Island, to Brooklyn and various postoffices on Long Island during the international aviation meet to be held, September 23 to October 1.

Arrangement were completed Monday for the novel mail service. Beck will receive the mail from a tent postoffice on the aviation field to be known as "United States Aeroplane Station No. 1." These words will also be used on the cancellation stamp. Captain Beck says that the delivery of 50 to 75 pounds of mail matter or even 100 pounds in fair weather is perfectly feasible.

ADMIRAL WAINWRIGHT'S IDEA OF WORLD PEACE.

[Rear Admiral Richard Wainwright in Christian Herald.]

One of the laws by which this world is governed is that all good shall come by scow process of evolution. We may be one with the law and ride on the wave of progress; to be backward is to be overwhelmed; to be in advance is to be ineffective. At this period of the world's history, to reduce our army or navy would be in advance of its present stage of evolution. The President is now showing the best course to take in the interest of furthering international peace. On the one hand, offering effective means to preserve peace; on the other, endeavoring to so strengthen the army and navy as to give due weight to the wishes of the country he leads.

We must take the world as it is and endeavor to aid in its improvement. When capitalist and laborer willingly arbitrate all differences; when few if any men are striving to take another's property, even by due process of law; when no man wishes another evil—then we shall have international peace. It will be a gift of the strong to the weak, as slowly but surely the peoples of this world progress toward better things.

THE DECLINE OF TEA.

[Ideal Grocer.]

During the last 20 years the average import price of tea has declined several cents a pound, yet the consumption per capita has failed to make any gains. If there is any change it is for the worse. During the same period two things have happened, namely a great spread of the premium system and the establishment of a market here for India and Ceylon leaf. Japan teas have held their own in this market, India and Ceylon imports have risen from zero to more than 15,000,000 pounds and China teas have lost ground.

The retail grocer has passed on the reductions in price to the consumer in many cases, and yet the consumption has remained stationary. Possibly he has not sufficiently narrowed the margin between cost and selling price, and yet considering the number of cups of liquor a pound will make tea at ordinary retail prices is a cheap bargain.

A pound of tea will produce from six to 10 gallons of liquor, a pound of coffee only about two gallons. Coffee, however, is less easily spoiled in the brewing and seems to vary less in strength and flavor than tea. Grocers obtain supplies of coffee oftener than supplies of tea, and coffee thus reaches the consumer in the fresher state.

Tea is more delicate in flavor and aroma than coffee, and not only requires a more discriminative palate, but its flavor, strength and fragrance are more easily lost. Yet these points always had to be reckoned with, and nevertheless 20 years ago half a pound of tea per capita was consumed in excess of the quantity consumed today. Coffee has gained. Tea has lost.

PERSONALS.

....Colonel John James McCook, the well known New York lawyer and member of the Ohio family known as the "Fighting McCooks," whose death is announced, was the youngest of nine sons of Daniel McCook, who, together with five sons of John McCook, all served as officers in the Civil war. Colonel McCook was severely wounded in the battle of Spottsylvania Courthouse and was mustered out of the service as brevet lieutenant colonel.

....In their search for the Mona Lisa, stolen from the Louvre at Paris, an agent of the Treasury Department at the Canadian frontier has come into possession of a miniature which is believed to be a painting of Nell Gwyn, the favorite of Charles II, of England. The miniature is an old gold frame of fine workmanship, set with 12 diamonds, and with two other small paintings was taken from a man crossing the frontier into this country.

....James J. Hill, chairman of the Great Northern railway, celebrated his seventy third birthday by taking his usual brisk walk up the stairway in the Great Northern general offices instead of riding in the elevator. He was reminded that about three years ago he said he would like to quit work. "I think a man ought to retire when he gets advanced in years," said Mr. Hill, "and I hoped to do so. I am getting nearer the day all the time. I know that." He would not indicate, however, what his plans are for the future.

....Rev. Louis Cornish, pastor of the Old Ship Church, has received assurance from British Ambassador Bryce that he will make the presentation of the old "mounting stone," which old Hingham in England, has presented to Hingham, Mass. The mounting stone or horse block stood in the village square of Old Hingham for at least 700 years. It will become the corner-stone of the bell tower which is to be built in the American town as a memorial to the first settlers for which Mr. Cornish founded the movement and raised $20,000. The corner-stone will be laid October 9, Ambassador Bryce making the presentation speech.

....Representative Madison of Kansas, who died suddenly Monday, was one of the striking figures in the strenuous fight over the rules in the last Congress which resulted in the curtailment of the Speaker's powers and radical changes in the code governing the House. Madison and other Progressive Republicans, under the leadership of Norris of Nebraska, in the closing hours of the Sixty-first Congress, waged and won the battle for re-organization of the House methods. Mr. Madison served through two Congresses and was re-elected to the present one, and was active in the work of the recent extra session. He was a member of the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation committee and took an especial interest in the Philippine administration investigation at the hands of the House insular affairs committee, of which he was a member. He vigorously defended President Roosevelt from attack in connection with the Secret Service appropriation controversy several years ago, and Mr. Roosevelt frequently expressed gratitude for his loyal support. Mr. Madison was recognized as one of the leading lawyers in the House and was a frequent participant in debate.

THE TOLL-HOUSE.

[Watson Nicholson in the Outlook.]

A costly toll-house bars the way
Whose outlines dimmed by distance are:
The keeper always gets his pay
From e'en the tardy wayfarer.

Though endless seems the road to there,
Perspective hides the rut, the hill.
We welcome, hail, each new-met care
That serves the time to fill.

For though the endless miles should cause
Us haste to reach the goal
We love too well the dallying pause
Which to this life is soul.

But ere we've gleaned the harvest due
From love and peace, from hate and strife,
The toll-house looms upon our view—
"The toll?" we ask, "Thy life!"

"I'll take your word for it, parson, but I'm no prizefighter."

"They say the hobble skirt is going out."

"That's odd. I should think it was exactly suited to be a fall style."

Mrs. Youngbride (at the phone)—Is this the intelligence office? Well, you sent me up a foreigner and what I wanted was a domestic.—[Boston Transcript.

Townley—So you've bought a country place and gone in for gardening. Are you a great way out?

Subbubs—Do you mean in distance or in expenses?—[Boston Transcript.

Mrs. Newly Rich—Did you fall heir to any of your mother's fine china dishes?

Mrs. Blue Blood—No, indeed; my mother always kept help.—[Judge.

Mrs. Knicker—Do you understand base ball?

Mrs. Bocker—No, but I understand William's remarks to the umpire; it's the same thing he says at breakfast.—[Puck.

He—What are you thinking about?

She—Nothing.

"Sure you aren't thinking about me?"

"No; I was thinking about another nothing entirely."

"You call this cake angel food?" said the harsh husband.

"Yes, dear," said the timid wife, "but if the diet doesn't seem exactly what you want, here are some deviled crabs."—[Washington Star.

"Higgins is the most careless fisherman I ever saw."

"Doesn't he have any luck?"

"Certainly not. Why, in fixing up stories to tell his friends he doesn't even take the trouble to find out what kind of fish swim in the waters he visits."—[Washington Star.

THE NEWS IN PROVIDENCE

The Daily News is on sale in Providence the evening of publication at Union Station.

TO WELCOME PRESIDENT TAFT.

The visit of President Taft, in November, to dedicate the new Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association building, will afford Newport an opportunity, which it should not allow to pass, to give the chief executive of the nation an appropriate welcome and the people of Newport the privilege of meeting and greeting him personally. The Miantonomi Club, which is representative of the leading business men of the city, might arrange a banquet in which its members and others could participate, and a public reception might easily be arranged in some central hall or public square, possibly in the Army and Navy building itself.

Newport rarely has the opportunity to greet the President of the United States, and his visit here in an official capacity ought to be made as much as possible of a public character. It is not known as yet what plans the President will have for his Newport visit, but it is none too early to begin arrangements for his reception.

FINANCING POLITICAL CAMPAIGNS.

James A. Williams, one of the prominent Democratic politicians of the state, in a recent signed article in a Providence newspaper told some straight truths regarding present methods of financing a political campaign and suggested some new ways of raising the funds needed by political parties for the legitimate expenses of such a canvass. He wrote with a frankness not usual in discussing matters of this kind and did not hesitate to criticise the acts of his own party as well as those of other political organizations in this connection. He told how money is secured from the moneyed interests and from party leaders and candidates, and how as a result these interests expect to be protected by the passage of legislation favorable to them, while candidates and leaders come to consider that in a large sense they own the party and can dictate what it shall do or shall not do. Then he offered what he considered better ways of securing the cash required for the campaign and of spending it in an honest and legitimate manner.

In general he advises that all money collected by any party for the expenses of a campaign be properly accounted for and that the purposes for which it is expended be designated and made available for any who desire to know. In other words, he would have a political party keep as strict and accurate accounts as a business corporation, so that none of its affairs so far as the collection and spending of money are concerned shall be done in the dark. In connection with this he would have a strict accountability required of all committees in the expenditure of money entrusted to them, that there may be no accusation that any of this had failed to pass through their hands in a proper way. These two features he believes would eliminate many of the objectionable points now evident in the raising of funds to finance a campaign and relieve the party leaders from even the suspicion of illegitimate actions and dishonest practices in connection with the handling of the funds.

As better methods of raising the money needed than those now employed he suggests voluntary contributions from candidates and not assessments based upon the importance of the offices to which they aspire, voluntary contributions from the rank and file of the party membership, and large fairs or bazaars such as are held for the purpose of securing money for a church or other organizations or charitable and philanthropic work. These ways of obtaining the financial assistance required for the proper expenses of a campaign he considers unobjectionable and calculated to remove any imputation of stain attached to the methods now in vogue. They are rather revolutionary in character, but there can be little question that they would at least have the effect of disarming criticism as to the purpose of solicitation and the manner in which the funds were to be expended. Money raised in these ways and carefully accounted for in both its receipt and its expenditure would almost of necessity be used in a legitimate manner and be secured without any pledge of return either in legislation or in political office or power.

It is hardly to be expected that these suggestions regarding a change in the methods of financing a political campaign will meet with enthusiastic favor from party leaders, even if they should from party followers. Indeed, since they were printed there has been scarcely a single public comment upon them, so that it is evident that they have not struck a popular chord. Notwithstanding this fact they are worthy of consideration if there is any real desire in any party to make a change in its manner of raising and spending money for political purposes. The leaders, however, appear to be quite content with the present methods and the rank and file do not bother themselves much about where the money comes from or where it goes. It is probable, therefore, that these pertinent suggestions of an open-minded party leader have fallen on stony ground and will bear little if any fruit.

THE CAMPAIGN AGAINST PURE FOOD.

The Wiley case can hardly be left where it is. Secretary Wilson had rather cleverly kept his own fingers out of the affair, and while his part in it is not obscure it is also not definite and it may be unnecessary to molest him. The President lets out the Attorney General by saying that he did not have the whole case before him; if he had he would probably have come to a different conclusion. Still, it has never been disclosed how the case—mutilated or complete—ever came into the hands of the Attorney General before it reached the President. Wilson's testimony before the investigating committee showed that he did not like Wiley and that he encouraged some of his subordinates in defeating the doctor and circumscribing his powers, and even in the concoction of a conspiracy for driving him out of the department, but overt acts he had been pretty careful not to commit. He was quite ready to have the Attorney General committed on the case, but was keeping himself in a place of safety.

Supposing that the affair does not justify the removal of two members of the cabinet and that there are plausible excuses for letting them alone, it remains that various subordinates of Secretary Wilson have thwarted and circumvented and defeated Dr. Wiley and the law and finally entered into a conspiracy to "frame up" a case on which his removal could be recommended, and having secured an opinion from the Attorney General it looked as though the conspiracy were complete. It is impossible to resist the conclusion that these subordinates who have been antagonizing the doctor at every turn, and finally manufactured a case on which his removal seemed certain, have been acting in the interest of manufacturers whose adulteration or unwholesome preservation or misbranding of food and drink he has been exposing and preventing. Millions of dollars are invested in these businesses which are open to attack on grounds of commercial honesty when they are not on grounds of hygiene, and the proprietors have unquestionably used a number of Secretary Wilson's subordinates. Now that the President has vindicated Wiley it is impossible that these tools of men who are trying to violate the law should be left in the public service.

THEY MISS THE ARMY CAT.

Rats! They do not say that in jest at Fort Leavenworth any more; the subject is too serious for levity. The military reservation is overrun with rats; the barracks are full of them and they even invade the bunks of the soldiers. Rats threaten to make Fort Leavenworth as terrible as Bishop Hatto's tower.

The infliction is a recent one and there is no doubt whatever about the cause. There were some time ago many thousands of cats at the fort and no rats. General Funston not only deemed the number excessive, but thought no cats at all were needed. No place can do without cats, unless it can have terriers, mongooses or other substitutes. It takes time to procure a sufficient number of terriers; and, besides, General Funston exiled dogs as well as cats. As for the mongoose, it is a serious crime to introduce a live one into the country.

General Funston ordered all the cat killed or driven from the reservation. A young officer wrote a long and sonorous epic on the departure of unnumbered thousands of cats of every age and degree and we fear that more cats were murdered than were driven away. It is easier to kill cats than to drive them away.

They are having their revenge. Perhaps not on the general himself, but they are wreaking a fearful revenge on the poor post, which is not responsible for Funston's edict, but must suffer the consequences. The cats have been expelled according to orders and the rats have taken their place without orders. The rodents appeared almost as soon as the felines disappeared and have been increasing with extraordinary rapidity ever since. The post is described as having reached the end of its patience, but that can hardly be true, for it cannot help itself. Unless Funston will let the cats come back it must go on standing the terrible affliction, but it is hoping that the rats will invade the headquarters and the general's residence, in order that he may be convinced. As for traps—well, rats don't go into traps. They're too smart.

A new crusade to evangelize the American continent, financed by business men of national prominence and wealth, just inaugurated, will differ from former religious movements in that the supreme effort will be to take the church to the people rather than the people to the church. It will be characterized by a spirit of broad humanity, by the personal contact of the workers with those needing uplift, rather than by the mere preaching of the Gospel to the gathered thousands. There is to be, according to the promoters, no sectarianism, no sensationalism, and little or no evangelical exhortation. The plan is so far as possible, to take every man by the hand, to help him in material things if he needs help, and thus enfold him in the Christian faith.

The Republican leaders in Rhode Island have agreed, it is said, upon Samuel M. Conant of Pawtucket as the party's candidate for governor this autumn. Mr. Conant is not known as a politician, but has been a successful business man and is believed to be of the right sort to make a winning candidate and an efficient executive. The Democrats will undoubtedly nominate Lewis A Waterman of Providence, who was their candidate last year and came near being elected. The delegates to the state conventions are expected to notify the leaders' selections.

One of the election laws passed by the New York legislature this year, has already been declared by the supreme court to be unconstitutional. The statute in question is the so-called Levy law, which prevented the name of any candidate from appearing in more than one column on a ballot. It was a tammany measure and was put on the statute books for the obvious purpose of preventing any coalition against the organization. The supreme court bases its decision on the ground that the law limits the right of individual electors.

The Congressional re-apportionment which the New York Democrats have outlined is pronounced by the Republicans an outrageous gerrymander. Doubtless it would have been a similar story, for the Democrats, if the Republicans had been in power. It is only a question which party makes the division; there will always be criticism and condemnation by the other side.

Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston, who made a visit abroad a short time ago, tells his countrymen that in a thousand ways the European cities could teach lessons which American municipalities should be eager to learn. How about Boston?

Even with a telescope Brooks's comet is said to have appeared as a blur in the heavens. Perhaps it is as well that it was cloudy in Newport. No one cares very much about seeing only a blur in the heavens.

For variety the present weather is entitled to a blue ribbon. It is difficult to tell almost from one minute to another whether it will rain, or the sun will shine, or what is coming.

Canadian politicians are maintaining the standards set in other countries. Both sides are claiming a victory in the Parliamentary elections, but claims never did decide such a contest.

THE OCTOBER MAGAZINES.

The October Woman's Home Companion contains the first chapter of a new serial, "The Poor Lady," by Mary E. Wilkins Freeman, a story of modern American life. A well known financial authority writes an article of interest and importance to women, in which he describes the snares set by dishonest business concerns to catch women investors, and tells many stories of real life illustrating his points.

Other articles are "Experiments in Spending," "The Girlhood of Madame Schumann-Heink," "The Moving Picture Show," "Money-Making at Home" and "Women Painters of America." Fiction is furnished by Juliet Wilbor Tompkins, Julia Truitt Bishop, Ernest Poole and Barr Moses. On the practical side the fashion and household departments are unusually full of useful suggestions and entertaining reading.

Stewart Edward White continues to recount his experiences in the October Outing. "The Ranch" will appeal to lovers of the open-air life—particularly as the real ranch is fast disappearing. Some unusual photographs accompany "Protecting Protected Elk," showing the cougar, bob-cat, and timber wolf caught in traps. Michael Williams, in "Tenderfeet on Tiburon," describes a visit to Tiburon island and his discovery of the gentlest savages imaginable—chewing gum instead of their neighbors.

Fiction is by Charles Alden Seltzer and Nevil G. Henshaw, with "Lights for the Automobile," by H. W. Slauson, and "The Care of the Terrier," by Williams Haynes—both authoritative and timely. Edward Breck describes "still-hunting moose in calling time" and Felix Riesenberg tells of being much hunted by "The Polar Bear at Close Range." Helen Dodd combines farming and idealism in "What We Sought and Found at Twinflower."

Increase in Providence School Enrollment Indicates Total of 30,000.

Jones and Henshaw Retain Title as State Doubles Champions—A Golden Wedding.

An increase in the enrollment in the public schools of Providence for the first three days of the term which began last week, is reported by the superintendent of schools. The gain is practically 622 for the total attendance during the same period last year. Wednesday of last week the total enrollment reported was 29,030. This does not include the Elm Street school, which has not opened, but by taking the figures of last year for Elm street, 222, as a basis of the probable enrollment this year, the superintendent's office announces a probable grand total of 29,252. For the same period during the year 1910 the total was 28,631. The increase this year is not so large as that shown for the first three days of last fall over 1909, which was 836. The indications, however, are that the general increase this year will be about 1,000 over last year, as additions are constantly being made to the roll and the superintendent confidently expects a total enrollment of between 30,000 and 31,000 within a short time. In some schools the accommodations are so crowded that the department has been forced to establish a waiting list. It is the plan of the department, in drawing upon this waiting list, to discriminate in favor of the older applicants.

For the second time J. D. E. Jones and Stanley Henshaw are state doubles tennis champions, that pair as defenders of the title defeating Monday Dr. A. A. Barrows and Arthur Ingraham, the challengers in straight sets by the score of 6-3, 6-3, 3-6. The victory gives the winning team a renewed grip on the Rhode Island doubles cup, which must be won three years in order to be retained permanently. Taken as a whole the form displayed by Jones and Henshaw was far superior to that of their opponents. Brilliancy in the scoring of placements particularly marked their game, the entire match giving them a total of 32 earned points to 17 tallied by their opponents, plus a trio of service aces achieved by Barrows. Their team work, too, was as smooth as a well-oiled machine. Individually, Jones was the brightest star of the quartet, for, although his aces numbered the same as those brought off by his partner, he was the steadiest of any of the four, sacrificing but 18 points, only two more than he earned on errors. Ingraham, his next competitor for honors in accuracy, was guilty of 27, Henshaw and Barrows ran a close race for misplays, the latter leading by one only with a collection of 31 faults of all types.

Mr. and Mrs. Danforth H. Medbery of Providence Monday evening received the congratulations of 200 or more relatives and friends upon the completion of 50 years of married life. They were the recipients of gifts appropriate to the occasion in addition to the felicitations. Mr. Medbery is a native of Rehoboth, where he was born February 12, 1839, while Mrs. Medbery was born in Attleboro in 1841. They were married in Rehoboth in 1861 and for the next three years were in California, making their home in mining camps there. They then returned to Rhode Island, where they have lived since. Mr. Medbery is prominent in the affairs of the Park Street Free Baptist Church, where he is a deacon, and also in the Northern Star Commandery, National Order of the Golden Cross, whose members sent him a purse of gold in commemoration of his 30 years' association with the order.

Nathan W. Young, one of the most widely known veteran horsemen and stablekeepers of Providence, died Monday afternoon at the Corey Hill Hospital, Brookline, Mass., from an operation which was performed a few days ago. He was 68 years of age, had all his life been actively identified with horses and was an earnest advocate of gentlemen's driving clubs. He was born in Burrillville in August, 1843, and from earliest boyhood had been a great lover of horses. He went to Providence about 40 years ago and for many years conducted a stable in that city. "Nate" Young, as he was known far and wide, was always active until a year ago, when his health began to fail. He was one of the charter members of the Roger Williams Driving Club, as well as one of the vice presidents and most active workers. He was also a charter member of the Jonathan Driving Club. In both those organizations he was prominent in the promotion of everything for the advancement of clean sports in connection with horse racing. He was foremost in the promotion of a speedway in Providence and was among the most frequent drivers seen at the various tracks in this section.

State Senator Oscar A. Bennett of Woonsocket, an Assemblyman since January, 1905, and a state senator since January, 1908, has agreed to accept a re-nomination. Business and health reasons some weeks ago impelled him to announce that he was not a candidate. At the solicitation of General Charles A. Wilson, chairman of the Republican state central committee, and of others, Senator Bennett has agreed to run again and will accept the nomination if tendered by the Woonsocket Republican senatorial convention.

The Congregational ministers of Providence took steps at a special meeting Monday toward the formulation of a uniform standard for the solemnization of marriage by the clergymen of that denomination throughout Rhode Island. A committee was appointed to report its views as to the stand which the clergy of the faith should uniformly adopt concerning the marriage of divorcees and in other specific instances.

Fred Hurst, Socialist candidate for governor last year, has been chosen to head the Providence city ticket this year. After nominating Mr. Hurst for mayor the delegates selected candidates for other city officers, as follows: City treasurer, James T. Fletcher; harbor master, John W. Thornton; overseer of the poor, John W. Higgins. Andrew Schultheis was named as candidate for state senator.

THE KNIGHTS' PROGRAM.

Dinner, Reception, Dance and Other Entertainment This Evening.

Launch Ride, Clambake and Automobile Trip, Including the Ocean Drive, Wednesday.

The members of Washington Commandery, Knights Templar, will be very busy for the next 36 hours, entertaining the members of Temple Commandery of Albany and their guests. Last autumn the local Knights in their pilgrimage visited Albany and were royally entertained and now they have planned to return the courtesies in full measure. From the time the special committee meets the visitors on the train at Bristol Ferry this afternoon until they leave on the boat for New York Wednesday evening there will be a continuous round of entertainment.

The proprietor of The New Cliffs, where Temple Commandery will have headquarters, has prepared a special bill of fare for his guests on their arrival this evening. As soon as the dinner is over the visitors will be escorted to Masonic hall for the reception, which is scheduled to begin at 8:30 o'clock, and for this prominent members, including several past commanders, will be in the receiving line. Then will come dancing and general entertainment from 9 to 11, and a buffet will be served until 12. For the visiting Sir Knights there will be further entertainment at the Miantonomi club, the ladies being first escorted to the hotels.

Wednesday at 10 o'clock the visitors, escorted by members of Washington Commandery and ladies, will be taken on Champion's launches for a boat ride in the harbor and bay. Returning they will go in automobiles to Colonel Herbert Bliss's camp at Easton's point for a clambake, which Colonel Bliss will prepare. During the bake the Newport Military band will furnish music.

At 2:30 in the afternoon the entire party will start for a long automobile drive. The route will be from Easton's point along Tuckerman avenue, Hanging Rocks road, Indian avenue, Kingfisher road and Wapping road, where the automobiles will make a tour of "Black Point Farm," owned by Colonel Reginald Norman. From there they will pass "Sandy Point Farm," then go by Sandy Point avenue and the East Main road, passing "Oakland Farm," to Union street, with a stop at Mrs. Julia Ward Howe's house. Thence they will go to the West Main road to "Brook Farm," the residence of Mr. Bradford Norman, where a brief stop will be made. Returning by the West Main road they will pass Prescott's headquarters, and go by Maple avenue around Coddington point, thence over the Van Zandt avenue bridge and Third street to the Naval Training Station.

It had been proposed to stop at the Station and witness a drill, but for lack of time and because the practice marches of the apprentice seamen are to be resumed this week it has been decided not to stop but to "pick up" the apprentices on the march in the city.

Returning from the Training Station the automobiles will go by Third and Farewell streets, down Thames street in procession to Wellington avenue, and then around the Ocean drive, with a stop at the old Boat House. The return will be by way of Bellevue avenue and Ochre Point to the hotel, which is expected to be reached in time for supper.

In the evening Washington Commandery will hold a brief business meeting to elect officers for the ensuing year, and then, accompanied by the Newport Military band, will march to The New Cliffs and escort the visitors to the New York boat.

Eminent Commander William Champion is in charge of all the plans and will have a large and efficient committee to assist him in carrying out the arrangements. There is also a ladies' committee, to have special charge of the women of the party, and nothing will be left undone to make the visitors feel that their coming to Newport is appreciated. It is expected that the Albany party will number about 75.

SECOND ROUND FINISHED.

Invitation Women's Singles to be Followed by Doubles, and Probably by Mixed Doubles.

A series of invitation lawn tennis tournaments for cups offered by the Newport Casino was started Monday on the Casino courts. The first is in women's singles, in which a number of the best known women players in this part of the country are entered. Two matches were finished Monday and three this morning, completing the second of the tournament. In the first round Miss Wildey of New York beat Mrs. Pouch, also of New York, and in the second round Dorothy Kane beat Miss Adele Bull, Mrs. Barger-Wallach beat Miss Eleanora Sears of Boston, Miss Marian Fenno of Boston beat Miss Frederika Paine and Miss Wildey beat Mrs. Lewis G. Morris. This leaves Miss Wildey to play against Mrs. Wallach and Miss Fenno against Miss Kane in the semi-finals. The summary follows:

Women's Invitation Singles—First Round.

Miss Ruth Wildey beat Mrs. William Pouch, 7-5, 6-4.

Second Round.

Miss Wildey beat Mrs. Lewis G. Morris, 6-2, 6-1.

Mrs. Barger-Wallach beat Miss Eleanora Sears, 6-3, 6-1.

Miss Marian Fenno beat Miss Frederika Paine, 6-1, 6-2.

Miss Dorothy Kane beat Miss Adele Bull, 6-3, 6-2.

This afternoon a women's doubles will be started, in which are entered all the players in the singles, with the addition of Miss Mabel Hotchkiss of California, the women champion of the United States, and Mrs. Lorillard Spencer Jr. There are five pairs, as follows: Miss Dorothy Kane and Miss Frederika Paine, Miss Eleanora Sears and Miss Marian Fenno, Miss Mabel Hotchkiss and Miss Ruth Wildey, Mrs. Lorillard Spencer, Jr., and Mrs. Pouch, Mrs. Lewis G. Morris and Miss Adele Bull.

In the drawings Mrs. Spencer and Mrs. Pouch are pitted against Miss Sears and Miss Fenno, and a close and interesting contest is anticipated. This is the only match in the first or preliminary round. The winners will play Miss Bull and Mrs. Morris, and Miss Hotchkiss and Miss Wildey will play against Miss Kane and Miss Paine, completing the second round.

It is expected that a tournament in mixed doubles will also be played this week.

TO ESCORT THE PRESIDENT.

Newport Artillery, Which Has Honored Presidents Grant, Arthur and Harrison, Makes Offer to Taft.

The Newport Artillery Company, through Senator Wetmore, has offered to do escort duty to President Taft on the occasion of his visit to Newport next month for the dedication of the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association. Among the Presidents to whom the Artillery has had the honor of acting as escorts in the past were Grant, Arthur and Harrison, and it seems only fitting that it should have the honor of serving the present executive in a similar capacity.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Barge Owen Brady is discharging a cargo of coal for the Almy Coal Company.

—Mr. H. C. Morgan of Harvard is guest of Mr. Milton S. Berger at "Edna Villa."

—Miss Eleanora Sear of Boston is guest of Mrs. Joseph Harriman on Bellevue court.

—Mr. F. O. Dickerson of Boston is here on a visit to his mother, Mrs. Silas Dickerson.

—Miss Margaret Glass has gone to visit her aunt at Rhinebeck on the Hudson for a month.

—Mrs. Alfred Macdonald announces the engagement of her daughter, Effie A. Gaffett, to Harry D. Footel, U. S. N.

—Ground has been broken on Kay street, on a portion of the old Tonker estate, for a house for Mr. Jacob A. Jacobs.

—Commodore and Mrs. Elbridge T. Gerry and Miss Mabel Gerry sailed today on the Kronprinzessin Cecilie for Europe.

—The Fort Adams football team is ready to open its season Saturday, when it is hoped to play the team of the Connecticut.

—The northeast storm signal is flying, but the local weather sharps see no signs of rain and say it will be a dry northeaster.

—The Adams Express Company had a car of horses from Syracuse this morning for Mr. R. C. Vanderbilt. They came from the Syracuse horse show.

—Recent registers at the Casino include Miss Frances Ogden, Dean Kalfleisch, Everett Davenport, Mrs. W. C. Johnston, H. C. Morgan and Count E. del Sera.

—General Secretary Chapin and Mr. W. G. Stockwell of the Young Men's Christian Association went to Jamestown on a fishing expedition this morning.

—The only fish reported this afternoon were 40 barrels of hutters and one of mixed by the Saboonet River Oyster Company. Captain Lewis also reported that it was rough outside.

—The marriage of Miss Bessie O'Neill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. O'Neill, to Mr. James F. Esleeck will take place next Wednesday morning in St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock.

—Mr. Walter Bryer has returned from Kansas City, where he has been residing, and is visiting his father, Mr. Andrew Bryer, who recently suffered a severe illness but is now able to be out.

—Another carload of furniture for the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association has arrived. It comprises tables, chairs, desks and settees for the restaurant, writing room and lobby.

—The work of puting in a permanent masonry platform at the Forty steps is about to be begun. The former wooden structure, which has been out of repair at frequent intervals, will be removed.

—There promises to be some fun at Long wharf this afternoon when the New Shoreham arrives from Block Island, for a shipment of about 40 pigs is expected. There may be some sport in putting them in the freight car which is to take them, and others, away.

—Steamer New Shoreham, having completed repairs rendered necessary by the accident to her cylinder at Block Island, went to Providence Monday afternoon and today made the Block Island trip, relieving steamer Block Island, which has been on the line since Labor day.

—In the district court this morning Acting Judge Kelley heard the case of John Sylvia vs. Frank Domingo, an action growing out of a severed partnership. The court found for the defendant. Mr. Nolan appeared for the plaintiff and Mr. Burdick for defendant.

—Repairs are being made to the Cappuccilli building, which was damaged by fire a few weeks ago. The inspector has ordered fire escapes on the building and it has been noted that the brick veneer walls are showing a tendency to bulge and will require securing.

—This afternoon the old schooner Judge Low was towed to the City wharf and steam yacht Electra was docked at Sullivan's wharf, where she will spend the winter, as usual.

—Training ship Adams is expected to make another start Wednesday, the repairs for which she returned having been completed.

—Mr. C. D. Dudley is to reconstruct his property on Franklin street, but being of the belief that the retention of the ancient and picturesque is a valuable asset to Newport will not in the remodelling change the appearance of the structure more than can be helped. Especially is the old doorway to be retained.

—The highway department's granolithic gang has finished the work of installing the new sidewalks ordered by the Council and today began repairs to the Long wharf walks, where there is enough to give them a few hours' work. Generally the public seems well satisfied with the manner in which the new walks have been laid. They are a big improvement on the old ones.

—Mr. F. M. Steadman, the authority on light, has on exhibition at Barney's a collection of views which he took at the presentation of "Pygmalion and Galatea." For outdoor pictures they have a peculiar softness, yet at the same time a distinctness not ordinary with views taken in this locality. They suggest the studio picture but contain detail which can be secured only out of doors.

—Complaint is made that the shooting season, which has opened, was entirely too hot in the vicinity of the road across the beach Monday night. Some gunners were shooting over the dam and the shot had a chance to pepper people using the road. Perhaps the gunners were not aware of the danger they were causing by shooting toward the dam, but that would not help any one who was hit.

NOTHING TOO DIFFICULT.

Boy Pianist, Beryl Rubinstein, Plays Intricate Music Without Notes.

His Work in a Smaller Hall Not So Pleasing as When Heard at "Rosecliff."

Tickets at $5 each are somewhat prohibitive even for those in comfortable circumstances; hence many had not had a real opportunity to hear the boy pianist, Beryl Rubinstein, who has played in some private residences and was heard last week at "Rosecliff." There was an opportunity for the musical public to hear the playing of this unusual performer at Apollo Hall Monday evening, where he appeared under the direction of Mr. J. H. Barney, Jr., using one of Mr. Barney's Steinway grands, the piano as well as the player receiving remarks of appreciation.

The entire program of nine numbers was given by Master Rubinstein, and again "the wonder grew that one small head could carry all he knew," for it was evident that he must have a good-sized repertoire of intricate and difficult concert numbers, all safely stowed away in his mind and fingers, as he plays entirely without notes.

The playing seemed a good deal different from that at "Rosecliff." Of course Apollo hall is much smaller than the spacious apartment in which Master Rubinstein was heard on the former occasion, and except for a particularly large and handsome palm had no decorations, and there was little to absorb the full force of the sound. There was no lack of it. Indeed, while other points in the music had a wide and pleasing variety, the power was nearly all the time "turned on" to a notable degree. It was not so at "Rosecliff," and the effect was much better; and it is perhaps only proper to make a note of it, for while it is doubtless necessary to have great power to play in a "symphony hall" or other immense auditorium, it is at least equally desirable to adopt the playing to the size of the place in which it is to be heard. Doubtless this could be easily done; moreover, some compositions require a soft and delicate tone for their proper performance. The doors were kept closed during the playing, which was as it should be.

There seems to be nothing too difficult or intricate for Master Rubinstein to memorize or perform. The program opened with a polonaise by Rubinstein. This was followed by "Le Papillon," by Lovallee, and this by a paraphrase from La Sonnambula, by Bellini, one feature of which was a solo for the left hand with rapid work for the right. The playing was warmly applauded and there was even exclamation of approval after the next number, McDowell's "Witches Dance." A Chopin nocturn was given somewhat more seriously and quietly, and then McDowell's Czardas came, with much dash and fire, evoking much applause. There was perhaps even more following the specially interesting arrangement of the celebrated Sextette from Lucia, by Leschetizky, which was played entirely by the left hand, alone. Wallace's "Spider Dance" was also warmly received.

After a short breathing spell the final number was given. This was the Fourteenth Hungarian Rhapsody of Liszt, and it certainly was given with great force, and much dash and rapidity of execution. Then, too, the softer theme, in the middle of the well known composition, was played softer, and with a more musical quality of tone. The audience was not yet satisfied, and a loud encore was responded to by playing a more quiet but nevertheless difficult selection from the old master Handel—the familiar "Harmonious Blacksmith," which was also heard attentively and with pleasure.

One of the pleasing things about the young player is his natural and unassuming manner. He has a great start, and with careful training and due attention to his health will doubtless be heard from.

LOSS ADJUSTMENTS DELAYED.

Disagreement in the Case of The Egan & Burke Stock—Smith Building Chimney Taken Down.

An adjuster arrived Monday afternoon to settle the Egan & Burke loss in the Smith Building fire. The owners and the company's representative were not able to agree and the loss has not been settled. An adjuster for the loss at Isaac Levy's store is expected Wednesday. There is $4,200 of insurance and that does not cover the value of the stock. Mr. Levy has been in business in Newport 38 years and is hence one of the oldest merchants now in active life. It begins to look as if the adjustment of some of the losses will drag along for some time.

The chimney which has been towering above the fire ruins was this morning felled to the yard in the rear of the structure. It was of double brick construction and appeared to be standing firmly, yet there was fear that it might be blown over and in that case it was figured that it would be sure to fall inward and crash through into the stores, doing great damage to the stocks remaining. To remove the danger from the chimney a portion of the fire-wrecked frame was also pulled down.

THE FORT LAUNCH SERVICE.

Fort launch Captain Drum has returned from the Fort Greble service and is again running to Fort Adams, starting this morning. The Lieutenant W. H. Smith is now running to Fort Greble, but the arrangements are not what might be called good for connecting with Jamestown. There is no wharf at Jamestown or Saunderstown at which the launch can land at present and so she is acting as a post exchange, running between Forts Greble, Kearney and Getty.

FUNERAL OF WILLIAM G. BOSWORTH.

The funeral of William G. Bosworth was held from his late residence on Spring street this afternoon, Rev. Dr. Quick of the Second Baptist Church officiating. The members of Truck 1 and other members of the fire department attended in a body, under the command of Captain Shaw of Steamer 5. Many friends of the deceased and of the family were also in attendance. The floral pieces were numerous. The bearers were Assistant Foreman Lewis L. Simmons, Malcolm McColl, partner of the deceased; Oliver Tisdale, Robert Haire, Harry S. Mandel and Andrew J. DePlois.

PELLEAS AND MELISANDE.

Miss Amy Grant, well known both in England and America, who will give an arrangement of Pelleas and Melisande at the residence of Mrs. J. J. Mason, will recite the text, accompanied by Mr. H. S. Hendy at the piano. Miss Grant's repertoire includes most of the Wagner and Strauss operas, and many short poems set to music. During the winter she will be heard in Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Albany, Buffalo and other cities. The Newport recital will be supported by a number of patronesses, including Mrs. Lorillard Spencer, Jr., Mrs. Arthur Curtiss James, Miss Ellen F. Mason, Mrs. William Watts Sherman, Mrs. J. J. Mason and Mrs. Andrew C. Dudley.

MARINE MISHAPS.

Fall River Craft Towed Here, and Flagship Patience Loses Propeller Giving the Fish a Respite.

Captain Tom Shea was rescuing the distressed Monday afternoon, towing over from Taylor's point. Connecut, auxiliary catboat Olivet of Fall River, which was at anchor off that point. The Olivet and her crew came from Fall River and had engine troubles which caused the skipper to anchor off Gould island, and the northeaster becoming fresh drifted the boat to the vicinity of Potter's cove, where the holding became good. The crew finally became convinced that some one more skilled than was on board was needed to make the motor moter and so they were towed here, and the cars were good enough to take home in.

There was another marine mishap in the harbor this morning. Flagship Patience of the Outer Fountain Fishing Club had dropped her moorings and was proceeding under power to the New York Yacht Club wharf to take on board a fishing party, when the skipper found that while the engine was working the motor did not go. The trouble was that the propeller wheel had dropped off; at least, that was the report. Of course the Patience has sails and there is a good breeze, but there was nothing further in the fishing line and the Patience is tied up at the shipyard while machinists look up another wheel. The fish were given a respite.

CHAMP CLARK'S EXPLANATION.

Speaker of the House Tells Difference Between a Speech and Lecture.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 19.—Champ Clark, speaker of the House of Representatives, before he left for Lawrenceburg Ky., his birthplace, where he will "talk some straight old Democratic doctrine" tomorrow, told the difference between a speech and a lecture. "The difference between a speech and a lecture is that you get paid for the lecture." The speaker said something about wishing there were more lectures and fewer speeches.

FORCED OUT OF ZION CITY.

Members of The Holiest Love Society Sent to Chicago.

ZION CITY, Ill., Sept. 19.—Eight members of The Holiest Love Society were escorted to the city limits of Zion City last night by a vigilance committee and placed on board an electric car for Chicago. Marshal John Huefer led the party, which forced the members of the alleged "free love" cult to leave the precincts of Zion, a city founded by John Alexander Dowie. No arrests were made. When the vigilantes reached the house the members of the cult had retired for the night. They were routed from their beds.

DISAGREE ON ONE POINT.

Answer to French Note Assures Germany's Economic Rights in Morocco.

FRANKFORT ON THE MAIN, Germany, Sept. 19.—The Berlin correspondent of the Frankfurter Zeitung reports today that an agreement has been reached by Germany and France on all points except one, and that the program assures Germany's economic rights in Morocco. The brief time required for the preparation of the German answer to the French note shows, the correspondent says, how far the Franco-German understanding has progressed.

—Mrs. E. J. Berwind gave an afternoon tea Monday for the Viscomte and Viscomtesse de Fiers and Baron and Baroness de Graney, who completed their Newport visit in the evening, returning to New York.

—Mr. and Mrs. Leonard M. Thomas returned Monday afternoon from a week's visit in New York. They will remain at the Carter cottage, "Quarterfell," until late in October, when they will go to New York for the winter.

—The new caps for the police have arrived and will be donned, according to present plans, October 1. They are on the style of the New York police force and at first the police will look strange in them, but this will soon wear off.

—Newport Hive, Ladies of the Maccabees, held a meeting Monday at the residence of Mrs. George H. Dillon on Halsey street. After the business session refreshments were served and a musical program was rendered by several members.

—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Payne Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. Columbus O'Donnell Iselin, W. Waldorf Astor, Clarence H. Mackay and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carroll are passengers on steamship Olympic, sailing today from Liverpool for New York.

—The police station report this morning was short. One man was fined for drunkenness and at the last report was still waiting for funds to pay. A man charged with assault on his wife pleaded not guilty and his case was continued for trial.

—On the annual Donation day at the Home for the Aged on Washington street, a committee will be present to receive gifts, the house committee being assisted by Mrs. Charles F. Hoffman, Mrs. Lewis Quentin Jones, Mrs. Reginald Norman, Mrs. Robert Sedgwick and Mrs James A. Swan.

—Occasionally the types play strange tricks with dates and places. In Monday's issue they made the time for the wedding of Miss Isadore Lull to Mr. Warren Gould October 2, instead of Tuesday, October 31, the correct date, and the place the home of her parents instead of the Channing Memorial Church.

—The marriage of Miss Edith Brevoort Kane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grenville Kane, to Mr. George F. Baker, Jr., will take place in St. Mary's Church, Tuxedo Park Saturday, October 14. Mr. and Mrs. George F. Baker, the prospective groom's parents, are passengers on the Olympic, which sailed today from Liverpool for New York.

—More than 40 members of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Young Men's Christian Association met Monday afternoon to make plans for the bazaar to be held in October. Reports of the various officers were given and an animated discussion on various measures followed. It was voted that the members of the Association be invited to become co-workers in the management of the bazaar, and if this invitation is accepted that they receive half the proceeds. CIVIC LEAGUE PLANS.

schools, to improvements in the training of teachers, and above all to such changes in the school curriculum as would direct the energies of the children into channels that would best meet the requirements for action, pleasure and amusement of the boys and girls affected by the conditions in existence. These are civic duties and should be considered as such by the parents as well as by those who are to reap the results of the evils which exist.

If the increase in divorce cases is the topic of the day and judge and priest joined hands in that refined gossip which we call public indignation, the civic aspect of the problem should not be difficult to find. The organization of the public schools makes factory workers and clerks out of the women and trains the men to compete with them in all fields. Instead of training women for that delicate task which we call home-making they are taught all things that would tend to raise their social and economic standard without giving them either the facilities or the opportunities for increasing these standards without serious sacrifice of family life and family ties. These are civic problems.

The restaurant and the saloon, the theatre and the dance hall, with their loose and easy-going manners, are strong competitors of the dark-roomed, narrow-cheeked, ill-smelling and poorly-furnished tenement. If we cannot abolish the saloon let us improve the tenements in which the gay white way finds its victims.

The public house is no small enemy of the family and the civic pride of our citizens has found it more convenient to shut its eyes to an evil that exists, not because it approves of it, but because by some old tradition they have been taught that what has once been a necessary evil will always remain so. The public houses, which are so openly tolerated at least in some of our Rhode Island Cities, are enemies not only of our homes, the wives and children of the present and future, but they are the most powerful agencies for the promotion of crime among private citizens and the public officials in whom we have placed our hope as the guardians of law and order, I mean the police. If we must have houses of prostitution let us not permit the police official to take the law into his hands and let us not permit the shameful traffic of the white slave, which is more degrading than the black slavery of the earlier days.

These are some of the civic aspects of the usual problem called divorce.

We lay claim to dealing with crime and we spend millions of dollars to maintain a judicial machinery which seems to be better fitted for the maintenance of legal advisers and shyster lawyers than for the abolition of crime. Our criminal rates are constantly on the increase and this increase is due, not to immigration, as some would have us believe, but to American conditions which have so far been unable to counteract the criminal tendencies of its American-born citizens. The figures for this state, as I have shown in my book on "Nativity and Race Factors in Rhode Island," bear out my conclusions as forcibly as may be desired by the purest of pure Americans.

The treatment of our criminals, the care that we take in placing before them opportunities for improvement while in confinement, and the pains that we take in controlling the environment after their release from imprisonment, are more important factors in the abolition of crime than the costly legal machinery which attempts to enforce laws so little understood and so unevenly applied. Let our civic pride impel us to build up our offenders so that they may be physically able to meet the struggle for existence. Let us remove from them the temptations which we tolerate but do not recognize as producers of crime. Let us train the prisoner in the industries in which he is most likely to find his place as a useful member of society, instead of teaching him women's trades as we do in Rhode Island prisons, and we will have a right to expect him to make himself useful. These things we are not doing, and instead of guiding by example and care those who have sinned we seem to take delight in sinning against them and believing that we are performing a function of the "state."

Our juvenile offenders are the victims not so much of criminal instincts as of the narrowing of our streets, the invention of glass windows, the building of tall, yardless, airless tenements, and a failure on the part of our public authorities to place at the disposal of these citizens of the future such substitutes as would make it possible for them to develop normally, without the pressure of the law and without the consciousness of committing an anti-social act which makes so many criminals of innocent persons. Playgrounds, field games, outing, open fields and the swimming pool are necessary substitutes for the old pond, the open lot, the brook where boys used to fish and the apple orchard where honest boys used to steal the fruit of farmer McGregor.

The whole moral problem is a problem of meeting human needs in a normal way. The civic aspect of the moral problem deals with the facilities of the disposal of the city, the state and the nation for meeting these needs. Conditions have changed more rapidly with the individual than society has been able to become aware of. The new era will be one of human passion, one of increased pleasure and reduced pain of increased human activity and reduced idleness, of increased social utility and reduced human waste; but all these can be accomplished only by a clear and open-hearted meeting of the problems of human nature, not by puritanism but by a scientific adjustment between social conditions and human nature.

Reports of the different committees were heard. Mrs. Mary S. W. Marsh, for the membership committee, reported a total of 258, as against 254 members last year.

Miss Julia T. Downing, corresponding secretary, reported that 34 letters and 509 postal cards had been sent out by her during the year.

The treasurer's annual report, submitted by Mrs. Greenlaw, showed the receipts to have been $962.75 and the disbursements $901.38, leaving a balance of $61.37 on hand September 15.

Mrs. Charles B. Weaver, for the municipal committee, referred to the difficulties in securing the enforcement of law. As an instance she referred to the unlidy condition of Bath road, which consistently lives up to its reputation.

Mrs. Alfred G. Langley, for the educational committee, referred to the retirement of Mr. Henry W. Clarke as principal of the Lenthal school as a matter of regret, he having been of great assistance to the members of the League. She also spoke of the success and influence of the Civic League Bulletin.

On motion of Mrs. Langley, it was voted to send Miss Mason the League's expression of sympathy.

The following officers proposed by the nominating committee were then elected:

President—Miss Ellen F. Mason.
First Vice President—Mrs. William S. Jones.
Second Vice President—Mrs. John Nicholas Brown.
Recording Secretary—Miss Nina M. Wilks.
Corresponding Secretary—Miss Julia T. Downing.
Treasurer—Mrs. Frank M. Greenlaw.
Members at large—Mrs. E. D. Morgan, Mrs Lorillard Spencer, Mrs. R. B. G. Sherman, Mrs. James C. Stewart.

At the close of the business discussion ensued, at the suggestion of Mrs. Griswold Wentz and others, regarding the matter of appointing a woman probation officer to be supported by the city or by private funds. It was decided to approve any step which the committee might take in that direction.

ENTIRELY BALD

Her Hair Commenced to Grow After Two Weeks' Use of Newbro's Herpicide.

"Fever caused me to be entirely bald I had given up all hope of again having hair when I was advised to use Herpicide. After two weeks my hair commenced to grow. I now have the most beautiful head of hair anyone ever saw. Praise to Newbro's Herpicide."

Thus writes Mrs. Howard Bailey, of Bellevue, Mich. We can point to thousands of instances where the proper use of Herpicide has been followed by a remarkable growth of hair.

Newbro's Herpicide is the original remedy which kills the dandruff germ and stops falling hair.

One Dollar Size Bottles are sold and guaranteed by all druggists. Send 10c in postage for sample and booklet to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich.

HARDLY ROOM ENOUGH.

Even With Additional Space for Exhibits the County Fair Promises to be Crowded.

President Isaac L. Sherman of the Newport County Fair was somewhat worried Monday afternoon over the prospect of not being able properly to display all the exhibits coming in. This was in spite of the fact that for the present year considerable construction has been done to provide enough additional room to accommodate the growing show. This has been a record-breaking year for fruits and the specimens which have been brought in are not only numerous but particularly fine. Those who ordinarily visit country fairs have for some time declared that the Newport County show is not excelled anywhere in this locality for fine fruit and vegetables. The display of art and fancy work is also increasing, so that better facilities for exhibit must be provided in the near future.

The new Portsmouth theatre has been completed and is ready for use and will be a feature of the show this year, while the mercantile firms are exerting themselves to make displays plays. One of the most extensive sights in this line is the pavilion erected by the Rhode Island Coal Company, in which are located half a dozen stoves, each of a different type, and in charge of a demonstrator these will be fired with the product of the mines on this island. In this way it is proposed to show people how practical the coal is for domestic use.

THE WESLEY BROTHERHOOD.

New Men's Club of the Thames Street Church Holds Its First Social Meeting.

The new men's club of the Thames Street Methodist Episcopal Church met for its first social gathering Monday evening. Vice President George E. Bailey acted as presiding officer in the absence of Rev. W. F. Geisler, the president, who is away. It was decided during the short business session which preceded the social to name the society the Wesley Brotherhood. The officers are: President, Rev. W. F. Geisler; vice president, George E. Bailey; secretary, Charles Goddard; treasurer, Howard H. Barker.

The feature of the meeting was an address by Rev. E. E. Wells of Middletown. Musical numbers were rendered by Messrs. Tallman and Chase. Afterward a salad luncheon was served and games were played until 10:30. The Brotherhood plans to hold similar socials once a month.

FEATURE ACTS AT THE COLONIAL.

The "Krazy Kids" are upholding their reputation for drawing powers, as they practically filled The Colonial at every performance Monday. They are presenting a new version of "The Last Day at School," introducing many new songs, dances and jokes. George "Scare" Douglas is as funny as ever and keeps the audience in an uproar with his peculiar antics.

The popular singing comedians, Buchanan and Holmes, received an ovation, coming as a surprise to the audience, as they were not advertised on the program. Owing to a severe and sudden illness of Miss Delmar of Farnum and Delmar was unable to appear and Manager Kaull hustled about and secured Buchanan and Holmes.

"Tucker" is a clever violinist and singer, imitating a female soprano in a skillful manner. He also sings in a clear baritone to his own accompaniment.

The picture program includes "A Squaw's Love," an Indian story by the Biograph company; "Under the Tropical Sun," "Jimmie's Luck," "The Wheels of Justice," "The High School Girl" and "Off the Coast of Maine," a scenic film.

COUNT TO DATE FAVORS REPEAL.

Plaisted and Council Resume Canvass of Returns.

Final Result to be Known at End of Time Allowed for Corrections.

AUGUSTA, Maine, Sept. 19.—Governor Plaisted and the members of his council, who were in session until midnight last night, canvassing the returns on the question of the repeal of the constitutional prohibitory amendment voted upon at the special election last Monday, re-convened this morning to continue the tabulation of other questions voted on at the same time, and to give the clerks of the towns in which the returns are in dispute an opportunity to present evidence of error and make corrections. The figures as tabulated last night showed an apparent official majority of 26 in favor of repeal, but these figures Governor Plaisted declares to be by no means final. "The clerks have 20 days in which to make corrections and until that time the result cannot positively be known," said the governor.

In more than a dozen instances the figures as received by the governor and council did not agree with those sent to the secretary of state. His figures allowed a majority in favor of repeal of 196 votes.

The total vote of the state as shown by the official figures tabulated follows: For repeal, 60,487; against repeal, 60,461; majority for repeal, 26.

The apparent majority on the wet side has not disheartened the prohibition workers and this morning they were busy taking steps to see that the returns from towns which they still maintain voted dry, in spite of the official returns, are corrected. Representatives of both factions visited the island polling places a few days ago and although they were not permitted to inspect the ballot Town Clerk R. P. Philbrook told them, they say, that the vote of the town was positively, for repeal 2, against repeal 36.

Figures from Limestone and Westfield are also declared by the prohibitionists to have been wrongly reported and corrections in any case would change the complexion of the result. On the other hand the repeal faction claims that there is just as great a possibility of error having been made the other way in other instances, and so until the last minute for making corrections has expired the council will not be in a position to make a positive statement of the result.

WISHES MORE FREEDOM.

Judge Peter S. Crossup to Retire from the Bench in October.

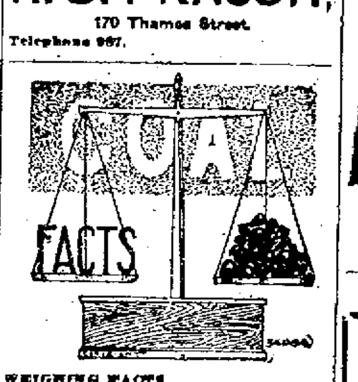

CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—United States Circuit Judge Peter S. Crossup today announced that he would retire from the bench the first week in October. He has served 19 years as a member of the federal judiciary in the northern district of Illinois.

Judge Crossup said: "The reason for my resigning at all is that I wish more freedom, not only as an individual, but as a citizen. The formative period is approaching. Next Presidential election will probably be the last one on the old lines. I wish no office, but I wish greater freedom than the bench gives to do my part in public opinion."

The recent act of Congress which would make the court presided over by Judge Crossup solely a reviewing tribunal may, his friends think, have hastened his decision to withdraw from the United States judiciary.

Judge Crossup came into public notice when the court of appeals reversed the action of Judge K. M. Landis in fining the Standard Oil Company $29,000,000. He was one of the three judges who prepared the decision reversing the fine, and read the opinion.

Noon—Foreign influences were largely responsible for unsettlement of the stock market today. The increase in the German bank rate of discount to 5 per cent, although it had been forecasted, served to emphasize the disturbed conditions abroad, and presented the possibility of an increase in the Bank of England's rate this week. The copper stocks were singled out for pressure, and Amalgamated Copper and American Smelting declined over a point. Other stocks also displayed heaviness at intervals, but the indications of support manifested after the early weakness represented bear selling and prices recovered somewhat before mid-day. Western Union gained a point. Bonds were steady. Money on call steady at 2¼ per cent. Prime mercantile paper 4⅝ per cent. Exchanges $295,564,208; balances $13,323,969.

WILL NEWPORT LOSE THE TENNIS?

Fresh Statements That the Tournament Will Not Come Here Again.

Officials and Players Said to Favor the West Side Courts in New York.

Regarding the future of the national lawn tennis championship tournament and the possibility of its removal from Newport the New York Evening Post says:

"The national championship will be played on these courts," said a man who sat in one of the stands and witnessed the playing of the recently decided international ties between the American and the British Isles teams at the West Side Tennis Club. "Don't you think Newport will get it again?" asked his companion. "Not much, the thing is already as good as done," returned the other. "In the first place, I have it straight that the leading officers of the national association are now in favor of holding the tournament in some large city, and by preference here, I received my information at first hand, too. Bob Wrenn, Billy Larned and Billy Clothier are all for the place now.

"Sort of surprising isn't it? Still that's a fact. They stood out against Dr. Dwight, and you'll notice that he isn't here. First international he has missed, I guess. They tried hard to pull these matches off for Boston. Said that the turf of this club would make the Englishmen think they were playing on a plowed field, and like all that sort of thing. Kind of looked dubious for a time, for the Boston crowd got some first-rate players to rub it on the turf here, like anything. It sort of came to a showdown. Wrenn held a conference in his office and it was finally up to one of those scientific grass-growers, who makes the grass grow on the golf links. Called in that fellow Tucker, who is up at Ardsley, for a consultation. Had him look the ground over. When he said that he could make the turf perfect for the matches they went ahead. Dr. Dwight didn't like it, I understand, but the others overruled him.

"Now the club has engaged Tucker for a year, so I have it, and he is to fix up the courts so that they will put anything else in the country in the shade. He's got a big reputation for that sort of thing, too. He'll make good, and that means the next championship here. Sort of hard on Newport, but it was coming anyway. Then, look at this crowd. Newport couldn't accommodate it. You'll see some great changes in the lawn tennis map during the next year. Things are waking up. Mark my words, you'll see the next championship played right here, as sure as anything."

A leading player who was at Newport, at Niagara-on-the-Lake and at the western New York championship at Buffalo, is credited with saying that a general overturning might be looked for at the next annual meeting of the national organization. "You'll never see the all-comers' at Newport again. Well, not for some years, any way," said this player.

"True the tournament was well managed and everything imaginable was done to give the players a good time there this year. But it has come too late. You should have heard the players talk as freely as I have done. They want a change. That's all there is to it. I think that a majority of them would rather have the tournament played in September, that is, the early part of the month. Some of those who favored Newport at the last meeting have come around to this way of thinking also. They realize that the change is bound to be made and they are hustling to get aboard the band wagon before it is too late and they will be left behind and counted among the defeated minority.

MIDDLETOWN.

Claims of Rival Roads for Improvement Again Before the Council.

Bids for Oliphant Lane and Vernon Avenue Too High and New Ones for Forest Avenue Invited.

[Regular Correspondence of the News.]

The regular meeting of the town council and court of probate was held at the town hall Monday afternoon. The president, Henry I. Chase, being absent on a visit to New Hampshire, Henry C. Sherman was chosen president pro tem.

Following the course of the meeting held September 5, the session was nearly all occupied in discussion about highway improvements. At the last meeting parts of five highways were considered for improvement, but from lack of funds it was found practicable to attempt only two. It was then voted to invite proposals for grading and stoning 800 feet of the easterly part of Oliphant lane and 730 feet of the easterly part of Vernon avenue. In response to this invitation proposals were received from four parties, as follows:

Grading and stoning Oliphant lane—Peckham Brothers Company, $1,052.20; David A. Brown and Elmer B. Sisson, $1,145; Walter S. Barker, $1,311.90.

Grading and stoning Vernon avenue—Peckham Brothers Company, $1,059; J. F. Sullivan, $1,080; Walter S. Barker, $1,272.80.

On both undertakings the bids were in excess of the previously estimated cost and the two lowest amounted to more than the balance of appropriation available for doing the work. This fact made it necessary to omit one of the improvements and a spirited discussion ensued as to which should be made. Councilman James H. Barker reiterated his opinion as expressed at the last meeting that an expenditure on Paradise avenue would really benefit a greater number of the farmers of Middletown that an outlay on any other highway. Councilman Lewis R. Manchester was in favor of soliciting proposals for grading and stoning Forest avenue, one of the pieces selected at the beginning. Councilman Henry C. Sherman had measured that part of Green End avenue requiring a new covering of crushed stone, starting from the Newport line and extending easterly to Bliss hill. The distance was 990 feet and he thought it would require $800 to furnish the new covering. He was convinced that the road appropriation could be most advantageously expended on this 990 feet.

Councilman Manchester suggested that bids be asked for grading and stoning 780 feet of Forest avenue, starting at a point 600 feet east of the centre of the large bridge. This suggestion was adopted and proposals will now be invited for grading and stoning 780 feet of Forest avenue, to be presented by October 2.

The bids received for improving 800 feet of Oliphant lane and 730 feet of Vernon Avenue were ordered to lie on the table.

The following accounts for police service, rendered chiefly in patrolling the highways in August and September, to obtain evidence against persons violating the speed laws, were allowed and ordered paid: Thomas G. Ward, $19.90; James Bloomfield, $25.80; Alfred S. Ward, $2.70; Frank Bennett, $9.00; William S. Caswell, $8.10; total, $66.40. No arrests were made but several drivers were admonished.

In court of probate, on the petition of William J. Brown and others, Maria E. Brown was appointed administratrix on the estate of Abram A. Brown and required to give bond in the sum of $2,000, with Francis E. Lewis as surety. For appraisers, Joseph L. Chace, John H. Oxx and Chester B. Brown were appointed.

The council adjourned to meet in the town clerk's office Monday evening, October 2.

Mrs. Christiana Sisson, who has been seriously ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ida Calvert, on Green End avenue, of pneumonia, is turning point is expected today. Mrs. Gertrude Sisson Corey arrived Monday from Tiverton and will remain to assist in caring for her mother.

Mr. Crawford P. Hart, who is employed on the Newport & Fall River electric road during the summer, has left for Kingston, where he will reenter Kingston College.

Children receiving fair tickets at the Wyatt school are Edith Wyatt, Rosa Cardoza, Willard Brigham and Manuel Cardoza. The list at the Peckbody should include Robert Peckham, J. Wallace Peckham, Dorothy Champlin Peckham, Katie Smith and Rosie Souza.

The heavy wind storm which raged all night was disastrous to fruit on the trees, of which there is an unusually large quantity this year.

There was a fair attendance at the auction sale Monday at "Sunnyfields Farm," Mitchell's road, where a 300-foot poultry house was offered for sale on the Speeder plan by Auctioneer James Taber. The building was first offered in 32-foot sections and later as a whole. The bid for the latter was not satisfactory and the entire lot of houses was bid in by Mr. Hunter.

SLOW VOYAGE MAKES CARGO PROFITABLE.

When steamship Northumbria, Captain Hadley, 10 weeks out from Eekalongan, Java, arrived in Boston harbor Saturday there wasn't a bit of food on board and the mixed crew had been on half rations for days. She left Java June 30 and was eight days late. Bad weather was encountered almost all the way. At Port Said provisions for six weeks were taken on. She was ordered to the Delaware Breakwater to await instructions and this and the thick weather caused her delay and the shortage in food.

The Northumbria carried 20,185 bags, or 12,535,760 pounds of sugar in her hold. This is worth $800,000, which is $100,000 in excess of its value when she left Java, the price of sugar having climbed meanwhile.

The Northumbria is the first of a fleet of 30 steamships which are to carry sugar to the United States.

CIVIC LEAGUE PLANS.

Woman Probation Officer and Schoolhouse Social Centre Suggested.

Annual Report of the President and Address by Dr. Carol Aronovici.

The Civic League, at its annual meeting in the Channing parlors Monday afternoon, besides transacting some business which promises to make for progress, heard a straightforward address by Dr. Carol Aronovici, who has been devoting himself recently to making a sociological study of conditions in Newport. The audience was large and the interest kept on all points raised for discussion.

In the absence of Miss Ellen F. Mason, the president, Mrs. William Safford Jones, first vice president, presided and read the president's report, which follows:

As we look back over the past year we find the history of the League differing but little from that of the year before. With the exception of a few new undertakings the work has proceeded along the same lines followed from the beginning of our career. But while we cannot point to many fresh ventures, and while our advance cannot be said to have proceeded by leaps and bounds, it is none the less an advance—a forward movement. It is gratifying to note that, as each succeeding year brings to us a clearer vision of the ideal which we are striving to reach, so also it affords new signs of the widening scope of our influence. Not only do the increasing demands made upon us by fellow-citizens for co-operation and support betoken their confidence in our ability to do things, but frequently also, from near or distant parts of the country word comes to us of similar leagues, whose existence is due to our example.

This furnishes added proof, if more were needed, of the important part played by our official organ, the monthly Bulletin, which has now attained a widespread if not a large circulation. It is through this medium, as well as through our Saturday column in the Newport Herald, that we are enable to make good the promise contained in our articles of association, "to promote a higher public opinion and a higher social order, and to keep constantly before the public suggestions for better municipal conditions."

Turning to what may be called our perennial activities, we find the municipal department relaxing nothing of its endeavor to bring home to individuals a sense of their responsibility to the public. It is unhappily still true that in many instances the breach continues larger than the observance, for nothing short of radical measures employed by the authorities can ever bring about radical reform. Nevertheless, by practical suggestions to householders and by co-operation with city officials, certain improvements have undeniably been effected, which are very noticeable to persons returning to this city after a few years' absence, and have been by them favorably commented upon.

The question of the city incinerator, which we had hoped to have been instrumental in getting adopted this year is still in abeyance, but there is good hope that it may soon be brought to successful conclusion.

The sociological department has continued its inspection of moving picture shows, and has gathered much data which will be found valuable when definite steps are taken towards the elimination of their dangerous features.

The question of the appointment of a woman probation officer has also been given careful consideration, but because of the many complications attendant upon this measure, it seems desirable to await further developments before attempting any public agitation of the subject.

A gratifying feature of the work of this department has been the large and interested attendance of both teachers and parents of public school children at the social evenings which took place last winter in several of the schoolhouses. The success of this experiment should be an encouragement to those who advocate the extended use of school buildings.

The educational department has never done better work than during this year. As it is in the children that our hope for the future chiefly lies, we may well take courage in the fact that the lessons in good citizenship learned by them in the League for Good Citizenship have borne better fruit than ever before, while the school gardens give proof of greater steadiness of purpose and persistent effort on the part of the little gardeners. It is hoped that, as was the case with the playgrounds, these gardens may be taken in hand by the city at no distant period, and our hands thus set free to initiate other new and useful enterprises.

Kind and encouraging words in acknowledgment of their efforts are always grateful to the laborers in the field. But are they not entitled to something more than this? Might it not seem the duty of those who know the value of what is being accomplished by the League's workers to come forward with offers of personal assistance? Each of our departments needs more help. It is greatly to be hoped that among our League members others may be found willing to bear part of the burden which now devolves upon so small a number.

I cannot close without recalling the meeting of a year ago when, sitting in this place, we listened to one who never, even in the eleventh hour of her life, refused her ready help to any genuine effort for social uplift—Mrs. Julia Ward Howe. Her gracious presence among us was a benediction upon our work; her inspiring words an incentive to renewed effort for the future. As she spoke of the opportunity afforded by this League to us, "the women of dear old Newport," for constructive, efficient co-operation for the public weal, and of the power invested in each one of us to help towards the attainment of the highest objects of society, we felt that in her own words: "We have indeed no choice, we must all keep dip step, march to the music, for before us, however far ahead, lies victory."

Dr. Aronovici, director of the Bureau of Social Research of Rhode Island, was introduced by the chairman, being the principal speaker of the afternoon. His subject was "The Civic Aspect of the Moral Problem," a topic which he treated first from a technical point of view, finally speaking of the actual conditions which he had found to exist in Newport after a study of six weeks.

He had prepared a chart, which he said indicated the various social centres in the city. There were 57 of them, and with one or two exceptions the only decent one was the Young Men's Christian Association. There was a saloon for every 600 persons. Nothing at all is provided for the girls, except the theatres, public dance halls, ice cream parlors and the street. He would advise opening the school buildings, the year around, and keeping them open until bedtime. The time when the congestion may be seen on the streets is between 9 and 11 o'clock at night.

He spoke also of the boarding-house problem. It would be ridiculous to speak of Newport as suffering from the crowded tenement problem, but it is admitted that this city has a tremendous floating population in summer, over which the societies have no control. The result is a loose social atmosphere.

Asked if it would not be a good plan to have general dances supervised by chaperones, he said it would be an excellent idea if they were introduced by the schools; otherwise they could not expect to compete with others run for commercial purposes. He thought something clearly ought to be done by way of affording a healthy social centre for girls after working hours.

On motion of Miss Franklin the speaker was accorded a vote of thanks for his interesting address, the formal portion of which was as follows:

Modern social science and the most recent researches in the field of biology have centered themselves around the idea of the improvement of the human race. The biologist by a study of the laws of heredity has reached a point where the science of breeding a better human race than has so far been possible bids fair to become part of the political and social programs of the great nations of the future. He has established the right of the science of eugenics to public attention and its laws will soon become a matter of general application. The sociologist and social worker have been busy studying the close relationships between man and his environment, they have estimated its value and possibilities in terms of opportunities and handicaps, and have come very close to certain fundamental laws which govern human values in terms of natural and social surroundings. They have shown in innumerable ways how the human race may profit by the improvement of its surroundings, be they natural, industrial, political, artistic. They have placed before the world the fundamental basis of the science of race improvement through environment improvement and have shown how this improvement rests with society to accomplish. They have founded the science which we social workers might call euthenics.

The whole of human knowledge concerning the improvement of the race by way of proper intermarriages and breeding on the one hand and the knowledge concerning the power of mankind to change the environment for the benefit of the race may properly be called the science of "eudemics" or the science of improving man. In the abstract, therefore, there are only two lines of activity which mankind pursues or should pursue; namely, better breeding and better living. To accomplish these things nature has endowed us with many faculties and a great variety of means of using them, leaving to nature a loophole for choosing the best only as human intelligence fails to meet consciously the requirements of nature.

The moral problem, therefore, is simply a lack of adjustment between the requirements of nature and individual choice due to improper hereditary tendencies and a social environment which is not sufficiently controlled and understood by man. It is this adjustment of the social environment which constitutes the civic aspect of the moral problem. To make myself a little clearer I would say that the moral problem is not one of natural perversion, but one of misuse of human faculties which are either misdirected or so overstimulated by outside conditions as to make their control difficult or impossible.

We find in our schools moral perversion which would shock the most backward of races when judged from the point of view of established standards. Yet this moral perversion need not be hidden as the shame of the century and permitted to be covered up by the silence which the public minds so frequently prefer to frank and radical action. When moral perversion is found in schools it is a matter of civic interest, a subject that should be carefully and seriously discussed by the parents. It should lead to changes in the building of public
